Hospitalization and mortality for acute bronchiolitis: results from the global burden of respiratory diseases study (GBD 2010). Most infants are hospitalized with acute bronchiolitis and more than 10% will die, particularly in lower-income countries. We estimated the age and sex patterns of hospitalization and death from acute bronchiolitis for age groups 0-1, 2-4, 5-9 and 10-14 years in countries for which information was available for all disease burden measures.

This is a descriptive epidemiological study. We calculated age- and sex-standardized hospitalization and mortality rates for bronchiolitis using the Global Burden of Disease (GBD) 2010. In 2010, 30.6 million (95% UI 29.1-32.2) infants were hospitalized for bronchiolitis, 90.4% in low-income countries. In 2010, the global age- and sex-standardized all-cause mortality rate of acute bronchiolitis was 33.0 (95% UI 31.0-35.1) deaths per 100,000 persons and 36.9 (95% UI 32.9-40.6) deaths per 100,000 persons in high-income countries. The age- and sex-standardized all-cause mortality rate of acute bronchiolitis was higher than the global all-cause mortality rate for most countries and higher for high-income countries. By 5 years of age, 99% of all childhood deaths from acute bronchiolitis are in low-income countries. In 2010, the age- and sex-standardized all-cause hospitalization rates for bronchiolitis were higher in low-income countries than in high-income countries: 35.1 (95% UI 34.1-36.3) versus 27.0 (95% UI 26.0-27.9) per 100,000 persons.

Age- and sex-specific hospitalization rates for bronchiolitis for the 0-4 age group showed the highest hospitalization rates were in the 1-4 age groups and were higher than death rates in all countries.

The highest rates of severe outcomes for bronchiolitis in this study were in Laos, Ethiopia, India, Cambodia, and
